

What Candidates Want

Monster's 2020 State of the Candidate Survey

We surveyed more than 1,000 candidates to understand how they perceive their jobs and what they expect from employers trying to court them. Here's a peek inside their minds.

Great (Salary) Expectations

NO.1 A better salary was the top reason for changing jobs in 2019

37% of millennials believe there is a gender pay gap

1 OUT OF 3

candidates feel their current pay is unfair

8 OUT OF 10

candidates say there should be greater salary transparency

However...

7 OUT OF 10

candidates feel comfortable negotiating their salary when accepting a new job

60% of candidates think employers have the upper hand when it comes to salary negotiation

Most likely to reject a low salary offer:

Millennials	63%
Gen X	60%
Boomers	52%

Takeaway: More than ever, money talks. Recruiters must find the salary sweet spot.

An Offer They Can't Refuse

What candidates consider most when offered a job:

39% Time off/vacation days

34% Flexible work hours

33% Retirement benefits

33% Perks/employee benefits

But it's not all about the money

In addition to pay, the top three things candidates consider as "part of their salary" include:

time/days off

60%

health care coverage

55%

retirement benefits

46%

Takeaway: Have well-rounded discussions about not just salary expectations, but work/life balance and benefits, too.

Recession Fear Is Real

Millennials are the generation that's most afraid of a recession

3 IN 5 employees are worried about the current state of the economy

1 IN 3 believe their job would be at stake if a recession happens

Takeaway: Candidates want to feel secure about the future. Reassure them by sharing your company's growth plans and the candidate's long-term potential.

Mental Health Matters

1 IN 3 candidates say their jobs negatively impact their mental health

51% of Americans who experience issues as a result of work have not sought help

Percentage of candidates who say their jobs have caused:

anxiety 41%

depression 24%

The top stressors:

heavy workload 32%

not making enough money to cover bills/debts 28%

having a toxic boss/co-workers 24%

They haven't sought help because:

they are afraid of being judged 26%

they don't know where to turn 24%

Takeaway: Employees want to work for companies that support them financially, professionally, and emotionally. Employers that offer all three can stand out.
